Waseda University, Tokyo, Japan

Scope and Topics

It is our great pleasure to announce the 2nd International Symposium on Frontiers in Materials Science to be held in Waseda University at downtown Tokyo, Japan, November 19-21 in 2015, following the successful 1st symposium in Hanoi, Vietnam in November of 2013. This symposium is organized every two years and traditionally covers a large area involving a wide range of research directions in basic and applied materials science. In particular, the following topics will be addressed: Magnetism and Nanostructured Magnetic Materials, Advanced Optoelectronic and Photonic Materials, Colloids and Polymers, Nano-Bio Systems, Theoretical and Computational Materials Science. Selected papers will be peer-reviewed for a Special Topic Issue of Journal of Applied Physics (AIP Publishing).
